

Letter of Recommendation

July 13, 2026

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Sanghoon Rho. I have been with Comfy Org since its early days and work there as a contractor; in the open-source community I am known as Dr.Lt.Data. I am writing this letter as the colleague who personally recruited Jin Yi to Comfy Org and worked alongside her.

I found Jin myself. I was searching for a Korean developer to work with and had met with many candidates before I came across her. Looking back, I still consider it a genuine stroke of luck. When she joined, Yoland, our CEO, asked me how on earth I had managed to find such a developer.

Technically strong developers are not hard to come by. What is genuinely rare is someone like Jin, who combines that ability with a proactive, self-driven attitude toward everything she takes on.

When she first joined us, Jin was not yet comfortable with spoken English and found English-language meetings quite stressful. Rather than accepting that, she studied English every day on top of a demanding workload, and before long she was handling those meetings without any difficulty. That, to me, is her greatest strength: when she sees a gap, she closes it herself instead of settling.

The Korean developers who joined Comfy Org, Jin among them, have all more than pulled their weight, and I am proud of what they have shown Korean engineers to be capable of. I am truly sorry to see her leave our team, but wherever she chooses to apply, I recommend her without hesitation.

I have no doubt that Jin will exceed expectations wherever she goes.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Rho' or 'Rhoon', written over a horizontal line.

Sanghoon Rho (Dr.Lt.Data)

Contractor, Comfy Org
